Eliminate Excess Federal Property

March 2, 2010

Program or Item Targeted: Excess federal property.

Background on Program or Item to Be Sunseted: In a 2007 report, OMB determined the federal government is holding $18 billion in real property that it does not need. In an updated assessment, current OMB director Peter Orszag estimated there are 14,000 federal buildings and structures designated as excess and 55,000 identified as underutilized or unused. The federal government wastes untold amounts of taxpayer dollars managing and maintaining property it doesn't even need. Despite recent reports from OMB, bureaucratic rules and regulations continue to prohibit agencies from disposing of unneeded property.

President Obama more recently stated, in a June 10th White House memorandum, "My Administration is committed to eliminating all forms of Government waste.... I hereby direct executive departments and agencies to accelerate efforts to identify and eliminate excess properties."

Why This Program or Item Is Wasteful: The United States government is over $14 trillion in debt. The government can no longer foot the bill for vacant buildings and special interest projects. Government property that serves no public good should be immediately returned to private ownership. The American people and the Obama Administration agree: now is the time for Congress to act.

MEMBER ACTION ITEM: Rep. Jason Chaffetz (R-UT) has introduced H.R. 665. This legislation that would require the Office of Management and Budget to sell excess federal property valued at over $18 billion, with 80% of the revenues reserved for debt reduction. The other 20% would be set aside for the individual agencies which owned the property, and acts as an incentive to encourage agencies to identify and dispose of their excess property.

All RSC Members are encouraged to cosponsor H.R. 665 by contacting Fred Ferguson. This legislation is identical to Rep. Chaffetz's H.R. 5535, in the 111th Congress. During the 111th Congress, H.R. 5535 was highlighted by the RSC Sunset Caucus, and also by the YouCut program. H.R. 5535 failed to pass, when voted on via Previous Question, by a party-line roll call vote of 241-179, in the House of Representatives, then under the leadership of Speaker Pelosi and the Democrat majority.
